

---

Give blood, get $60 room night at AVIA

Author:

Give blood, get $60 room night at AVIA

AVIA Savannah, a boutique hotel, is hosting its second Blood Drive with The Blood Alliance from 2-4 p.m. Tuesday.

Anyone who donates blood on that day at the hotel will be offered a $60 room rate for that night only. This rate is more than 50 percent off the best available rate.

AVIA Savannah is located at 14 Barnard St.

Junior Miss contestants sought

Greater Chatham County's Junior Miss program is looking for high school junior women (public and private schools) in the following counties: Bryan, Chatham, Effingham and Liberty that are interested in earning money for college to participate in its 2010 program. Greater Chatham County's Junior Miss is affiliated with and franchised by Georgia's Junior Miss and America's Junior Miss programs.

The program will take place April 2010 in Savannah. The deadline for application is Nov. 30. Greater Chatham County's Junior Miss will participate in Georgia's Junior Miss program where she will try for the chance to compete for the title of America's Junior Miss, a share of more than $125,000 in cash scholarships and millions in college scholarships at the AJM National Finals in Mobile, Ala.

For information about Greater Chatham County's Junior Miss Program, contact Sondra Barnes at 912-233-6131 or cctpinc@comcast.net or go to www.ajm.org/about/state\_programs.

Watch a recent interview with Lowcountry country/rock singer Chris Stevers at savannahnow.com/do/localmusicnow. Stevers talks about his upcoming self-entitled album, playing with the Charlie Daniels Band and performs.